PC KEYIN

Need to automate your time and attendance? Do you have a small office with a single PC that can be used as a kiosk, or a network that all hourly employees have access to? Then your answer might be PC Keyin. PC Keyin will work on a network with the NOVAtime enterprise system or as a kiosk on a single PC. PC Keyin uses the server time to avoid employees trying to cheat the system. It also stores punches on the local machine if the network is down. Once the network is back on line, the punches are sent to the server for polling by the time system.

Your employees just punch in at the PC and the data is polled into their timesheet. Once the data is collected, you can run reports and process your payroll. No additional hardware needed. You can also do project/job tracking. PC Keyin can also be used as an Employee Self Service terminal to view and print employee hours, and if you are using the optional accruals module you can view accrual totals as well.

The PC Key-In module has keys and features similar to a time clock. Similar to a data collection terminal, it displays a general greeting and selected messages for specific employees.
